

Holiday Gift Giving – Consider Cady Carlson Designs for Your Special Someone(s)

Whew! What happened to fall?! There's likely not time for custom fine jewelry but Gift Certificates are always an option! Also, I've been busy designing some additional, limited edition Oklahoma-themed and Gryphon Collection inventory:

Pictured left is a new "Deco Rhythm" set including a gunmetal and sterling silver necklace ($175) with matching earrings ($85), and bracelet (not pictured but $85) all plus tax. The "Tulsa Flag" earrings now are available in red enamel ($45) or the original brass ($30) plus tax. Also new are this ethically-sourced sterling silver "Imperfect Circle Bracelet" ($105) and "Homage Ring" ($55), both plus tax.

Also, check out these newly-designed laser-cut wood "Deco Ornaments" – a replica of a motif on the old Warehouse Market building in downtown Tulsa. Available in purpleheart (left), zebra wood (right), and walnut (not pictured), $15 each plus tax. The Online Promo Code for free shipping is active until NY Eve: "OnDasher." We now also offer free local pickup by appointment.

TIP – Solving Clasp Frustration

Do you not wear a favorite necklace because the clasp is too difficult or it snags your hair? Don't just leave it in the jewelry box; let me know and I'll find a solution that keeps your necklace safely closed but also functional!

Pros and Cons of Common Clasps: Lobster Clasp is a favorite for its strength and versatility but can be difficult to use if you have trouble with dexterity. Barrel Clasps are secure for light-weight jewelry but the typical open rings that connect to the necklace itself can open over time and be difficult to use if you have trouble with dexterity or have long hair. Toggle types are strong but should not be used with high-value jewelry due to the possibility of unclasping. Pearl clasps are strong and don't require use of fingernails to open and close but generally require two hands. Magnetic types are increasingly popular and convenient but I personally don't care for their strength. A fold-over magnetic clasp will add some extra security if going this route.
