

Welcome to Cady Carlson Designs!

Tulsa's newest custom jewelry designer hits the ground running

Customized bottle openers for the groomsmen at our recent wedding.

After all the recent excitement of graduating from SCAD with a degree in Jewelry and a concentration in Entrepreneurial Business, as well as getting married and buying a house, I am all set up in my new home office, and am ready to be your custom jeweler! Have an old piece of jewelry that needs updating? Want something entirely new as a creative gift or a gift to yourself? Getting engaged or want to commemorate a special event? Collaborating with you on a design project is my specialty, but I'm also happy to just provide a new clasp to make your favorite piece of jewelry more wearable!

With the most up-to-date software in the Tulsa area, you can see your concept materialize before your eyes and get a full-color rendering before committing to fine metal. And, with access to Tulsa's very own Fab Lab, we can even print a 3-D model to scale before casting or even 3-D print in the metal of your choice.

Since graduating, some of my favorite projects have been updating old (or even ugly) jewelry, designing men's rings and cuff links, making custom wedding rings, wooden key fobs, and even bottle opener groomsmen gifts.

Me in the News!

In September my work was fortunate enough to be selected for the juried Tulsa Artists Coalition Show at the month-long exhibit at the Arts & Humanities Council of Tulsa Hardesty Arts Center (or AHHA) in Tulsa's glorious Brady Arts District. A selection of my current inventory is now for sale, too, at the AHHA gift shop, 101 E Archer St.

Remember Faberge eggs? Consider signing up for my December class at Tulsa's primo artistic resource -- WaterWorks Art Center -- just west of the Brady District in Newblock Park. Learn how to take this very old (but actually simple) technique and turn it into three one-of-a-kind jewelry pieces. Sign up at cityoftulsa.org under the "Specialty Centers: WaterWorks Art Center" tab and select the "Class Registration link," or call 918-556-2440.

Let's Get Started!

Please give me a call to set up an appointment at my place -- I'll even provide something warm and tasty to drink. Or, if simpler, I'm happy to drop by your house or Skype over the Internet.

You can call/text me at 918-557-1027, email me at cadycarlson@yahoo.com, look me up on the web at cadycarlson.com, and follow Cady Carlson Designs on Facebook, Pinterest, and Vimeo.

Enjoy a "Friends and Family Discount" during the next few months and help me kick off my new adventure!
